Gender Pay Gap - Statement

As Oakland Primecare Limited employs more than 250 people, we are required by law to publish an annual gender pay gap report in accordance with the equality act 2010 (gender pay gap information) regulations 2017. This report shows the difference in average female earnings compared to average male earnings.

The gender pay gap looks at the difference in the average pay of men and women in an organisation. This is different from equal pay which is where men and women are paid the same pay for the same work.

As of April 2024, the average difference in pay was 7.23% between men and women which means that the average salary for men is 7.23% higher than the average salary for women. These figures are calculated from a staff population that is 26% male and 74% female.

The data shows Oakland Primecare has improved its gender pay gap at the reporting date of April 2024 compared to figures reported for April 2023 and continues to trend lower than the UK average.

Company position

The company operates mainly within the Southeast of England in an increasingly competitive environment where what we pay is often influenced by other providers in the care sector, organisations outside of our sector and the complexity and/or demand for the specific role. We have more women than men in frontline roles for example within housekeeping and care worker roles, where salaries are often lower.

Equality of Pay

We pay people based on their skills, experience and qualifications rather than their gender.

We are fully committed to being a diverse and inclusive workplace and we firmly believe it drives the success of our employees, and we wouldn't want to operate in any other way.

Since the last Gender pay gap in April 2023, we have seen some improvement in our pay gap which has reduced from 8.03% to 7.23%. This is attributable to a number of measures we implemented in 2023 to address the gap.

We continue to explore areas within our operations to make sure that what we pay our staff is proportionate to the complexity of each role and in line with our values and objectives. We are committed to making sure that our approach to how we reward our staff continues to focus on roles and not people.

We value the diversity, expertise and passionate commitment of all our staff. The difference in pay between male and female workers is reflective of how women and men are spread throughout the organisation and does not indicate that men and women doing the same work are paid differently.

Actions taken since the 2023 Gender Pay Gap Report

Set out below are actions we have taken to address our gender pay gap:

- Continue to embed and monitor the operation of our talent management process, particularly for frontline roles where there is a higher concentration of female workers.
- Embed a values-based approach to recruitment
- Implement actions developed as a response to our latest employee engagement survey
- Continue to embed the reward and recognition framework

I, Joanne Balmer, Chief Executive Officer, confirm that the information in this statement is accurate.
